U. S. STEEL AND MARINES SHARP ADVANCE IN SHOW NO DEFINITE TREND

New York, Aug. 2.—The only stock to vary more than a fraction at the exces-sively dull opening of today's market was one of the very obscure specialties-Union Bag and Paper—which registered a decline of 3½ points. Many of the ac-tive issues were not at all quoted in the first half-hour, while others, like United States Steel, Marine preferred and stand-ard rails, were so apathetic as to show no definite trend. Liberty bonds were no definite trend. Liberty bonds were inclined to ease.

General Motors extended its advance to 6½ points during the noon hour, and Sumatra Tobacce sained almost 2 points before another slight setback occurred. Rails were unmoved by reports that Washington may soon define its position regarding contracts.

COTTON 63 TO 66 POINTS
OVER THURSDAY'S CLOSE

New York, Aug. 2.—After a somewhat irregular opening, in which prices were from 6 points lower to 11 points higher, the cotton market turned very strong and advanced from 20 to 37 points over the previous night in the first ten minutes, due to further dry weather in the south, west and showers in the castern belt, where boll weevil activity is feared. There was active buying by Liverpoot and general support from local and outside speculative sources, which later advanced October to 25.45c and December to 25.84c, representing new high levels for this movement and from 69 to 66 points advance over yesterday's close.

A little realizing in the early afternoon.

for this movement and from 68 to 66 points advance over yesterday's close. A little realizing in the early afternoon, with selling by some of the large spot interests and Japanese firms, depressed the market about 169/18 points, October reacting to 26,26c and December to 25,67c. Although moderate realizing occurred later, partly for Japanese account, the market acted very steady around midday at only a few points decline under the highest of the morning. The very favorable war news in connection with builish eastern belt crop accounts expisined most of the firmness.

The demand increased while offerings remained slender. In the trading up to noon the advance was widened to 646/72 points. Longs took profits in a moderate way and checked the upward movement. At 1 o'clock prices showed net gains of 56% 59 points.

TENNESSEE SOLDIERS UNDER HOT FIRE

Regiment, Has Narrow Escape in Battle.

The 117th infantry (Third) Tennessee national guard regiment) has been in the trenches in a quiet sector, but under a grueling fire from the German artillery, after being reviewed by Gen. Pershing, according to a letter from Col. Cary F. Spence, commanding the regiment, to his wife in Knoxville.

Col. Spence had a narrow escape when eight boche shells burst about the automobile in which he was riding. They moved out in good order "with only a few scratches."

Sergt.-Maj. Frost. of Nashville, had a narrow escape when a shell burst in the front line trenches, killing a soldier standing near him.

Mustard gas is giving the men a great deal of trouble, and they are forced to sleep in the daytime, as the bombardment is so terrific at night, with the consequent greater hazard of being gassed.

The two letters, one scribbled hastily being gassed.

The two letters, one scribbled hastily The two letters, one scribbed hashed on a scrap of paper, evidently in the trenches, and the other just before the review by Gen. Pershing, follow:
"We are having lots of rain and are in mud and have been in the trenches. in mud and have been in the trenches. We have been seeing bursting shells all around us and sometimes very close. We are all well, and while we are not getting much sleep on account of the shells, we are doing nicely. I was on the road in a car when eight shells broke around us, but we moved out in good order with only a few scratches."

The other letter, in which he tells of the gas attacks, says Men Constantly Gassed.

Men Constantly Gassed.

"In order to give your some little idea as to what the front line trenches are like, I will say that each soldier goes into the trenches for ten days before being relieved. They do not even take a blanket into the trenches, and never think of such a thing as taking off their clothes. The only time they get sleep is in the daytime, as shell fire goes on all night. Shell fire is terrific, and the men are constantly being gassed by gas shells. The shell that is giving the most trouble now is the mustard gas shell. Sergt. Frost.

is the mustard gas shell. Sergt, Frost, my regimental sergeant-major, who is writing this letter for me and whose home is in Nashville, has just returned from the front line and was in about ten yards of some soldiers when a shell struck one of the soldiers and killed him instantly and wounded the two others.

"One gallon of water is sent up each day where it is possible; each man does his washing and drinking out of what he gets. Sometimes he does not get that much, as shelling is so bad along the roads trying to keep transports from coming up that it is practically impossible for men to get up with supplies. They kill a great many men and horses. It is a most dangerous position to be in charge of one of the drivers, yet they call this a quiet sector.

"Comparatively speaking, everything is quiet at this time, Our regiment is working night and day. Our engineers are working on our trenches now and getting them in shape. We have had very little sickness and the men all seem in good spirits.
"I saw an officer who had just returned from Ypres and he said that not a building was left standing.
